42nd Barossa Wine Show 2018

Wines of Provenance Results

Fine wines short listed, with the final deliberations between a white and red wine with the purity and vintage selection making the white wine an overall winner. This wine highlighted the strength of Eden Valley. A pristine example of elegance and finess, Eden Valley at its best.

A note to producers about exhibits: by selecting classic vintages for the variety and sub regions the wines will show well.

Very strong class with excellent young and old wines. Older wines aging beautifully. Differentiated by tightness of palate line and focused finish, coupled with fruit depth and generosity. The level of reduction in a few wines is a concern.

A class of peaks and troughs. The best wines show the region's natural affinity for the variety and deliver power and depth without sacrificing vibrancy or precision. These are the wines that remind us why we love Barossa shiraz. Down in the troughs, the view's not so good. A surprising number of wines are further ahead of the expected development curve than they should be, and the finger can be pointed at the opposing evils of winemaker neglect or over-indulgence. The good wines endorsed the vintage, the poor wines are memorials to missed opportunity.

The best wines are in a very good place: concentrated, complex and composed with laudable freshness and life. The less successful examples lack freshness, seem sluggish and are already drying out.

We are living in a golden age of Grenache. The top wines represent an outstanding snapshot of the variety's capacity for greatness when rooted in Barossa dirt. The wine of show came from this class. Several of the wines it beat here could have done just as well.

This class is one of the show's highlights. The best wines understand the varietal interplay that makes these wines more than the sum of their parts. The less successful wines seem single varietal with a bit of extraneous seasoning. Some examples showing clever use of whole bunch, some examples showing how easily it can go wrong.
