44th Barossa Wine Show 2020 - Results

Wines of Provenance Results

As always, the delicious cream atop the wine show sundae.

A tweak to entry requirements has been beneficial, with some intriguing new entrants fighting it out alongside some celebrated stalwarts of this class.

The best white wines were simply glorious, compelling reminders to those that understand, and news flashes to those who probably should know, that this place produces some of the most age-worthy white wines on earth.

The reds were a strong collection of wines with clear pedigrees, the best entrants showing a compelling narrative arc and obvious lineage through the three wines put forward.

Another argument for saying these 'Provenance' style classes have been the best development in the wine show system for many years.

Best had lightness and beautifully managed tannins which were a delight to taste. Some judges regarded added colour giving unattractive doughy notes and width of palates expanding, perhaps as a result of pH creep. The best wines were whole, silky and sumptuous and not always the biggest or most concentrated of the bracket

A swag of exciting wines in this class! Beautifully polished tannins, varietal expression and careful oak usage were marked in these wines. Top wines showed that Barossa Cabernet is a force to be reckoned with.

A class showing incredible concentration of stunning fruits and judicious use of oak throughout most wines. An absolute pleasure to judge. What separated silver medals from gold medals was squarely about balance. Those wines with the greatest balance of all elements were highly awarded.

Judges comments focussed on wines lacking freshness from too long in oak or too much new oak. Acid could be increased and alcohol still a concern as standing out in many wines. Some wines with volatile acidity. The best wines were rich, poised and still super-fresh!

Class 17 - Dry Red, Grenache, Shiraz and/or Mourvedre dominant blends (where 85% must be a blend containing 2 of these varieties)

A delightful class of wines which show the prowess of this blend on Barossa soil. Undeniably a highlight of the show - remarked by all judges. The full spectrum of styles was represented from lighter, super floral and juicy to brooding, meaty and structured and all styles are relevant. A very memorable class.
